This clinic is best suited for intermediate riders and well broke horses. That being said, beginners will not be turned down. However, they will be expected to participate in the program at their individual level and keep up with the flow of the clinic. Each student should advance their current skills and take time off their runs.

Ken will start with horsemanship skills and teach the application of aids to pole bending.

Ken will give each student one-on-one coaching throughout the clinic.

Students should bring a rein that is around 10 foot in length that can be shortened as needed and a tie-down (may be needed)
